Policy statement on equality and diversity

The School will promote equality of opportunity for students and staff from all social, cultural and economic backgrounds and ensure freedom from discrimination on the basis of disability, gender, race, age, religion or belief, and sexual orientation.

Equality and diversity are integral to the School's priorities and objectives. We will support inter-faith and inter-cultural understanding and engage all students in playing a full and active role in wider engagement with society.

Aims and Objectives:

Statement

The Mosslands School is an inclusive school where we focus on the well-being and progress of every student and where all members of the school community are equally valued.

Since the Equality Act 2010 came into effect in April 2011 there is no longer a requirement for schools to draw up and publish equality schemes or policies. However, we believe that the Equality Act provides a framework to support our commitment to valuing diversity, tackling discrimination, promoting equality and fostering good relationships between people. It also ensures that we continue to tackle issues of disadvantage and underachievement of different groups. We believe that equality at our school should permeate all aspects of school life and is the responsibility of every member of the School and wider community. Every member of the School community should feel safe, secure, valued and of equal worth.

We are committed to promoting equality of opportunity and respect for the diversity of everyone: in relation to the services we provide, our employment practices and arrangements we enter into with our partners.

We can promote equality and diversity by:

- Treating all staff and students fairly creating an inclusive culture for all staff and students
- Ensuring equal access to opportunities to enable students to fully participate in the learning process
- Enabling all staff and students to develop to their full potential
- Equipping staff and students with the skills to challenge inequality and discrimination in their work/study environment
- Making certain that any learning materials do not discriminate against any individuals or groups
- Ensuring sure policies, procedures and processes don't discriminate

The duty to promote equality, as defined within the Act covers race, disability, gender, age, religion or belief and sexual orientation along with pregnancy or maternity and gender reassignment. These are known within the Equality Act as 'protected characteristics'. It requires all schools, when carrying out their functions, to have due regard to the need to:

- Promote equality of opportunity
- Eliminate unlawful discrimination
- Eliminate harassment and victimisation
- Promote equality by recognising and celebrating differences between people
- Encourage disabled people's participation in public life
- Take steps to take into account people's disabilities, even where that involves more favourable treatment

In order to meet our general duties, listed above, the law requires us to publish specific objectives, which we have identified as representing our school's priorities. These are the outcome of a careful review of and analysis of data and other evidence. They also take into account national and local priorities and issues.

We evaluate our success in meeting the Public Service Equality Duties by the extent to which we achieve improved outcomes for the different groups.

The policy applies to all those who come into contact with, and work in, the school including:

- Staff
- Students
- Parents/Carers
- Contractors
- Partners
- Visitors

The school aims to ensure that no one receives less favourable treatment for reasons relating to:

- Race, ethnicity, or national origin
- Gender
- Marital status
- Sexuality
- Disability
- Religion or belief
- Age
- Social class
- The rehabilitation of former offenders

Monitoring and Review

We make regular assessments of students' learning and use this information to track students' progress. As part of this process, we regularly monitor the performance of different groups, to ensure that all groups of students are making the best possible progress. We use this information to adjust future teaching and learning plans, as necessary. Resources are made available to support groups of students where the information suggests that progress is not as good as it should be. The governing body receives regular updates on student performance information.

School performance information is compared to national data to ensure that students are making appropriate progress.

We also regularly monitor a range of other information, which relates to:

- Exclusions and truancy
- Prejudice related incidents
- Bullying
- Parent/carer involvement
- Attendance
- Participation

Our monitoring activities enable us to identify differences in student performance and to take appropriate action to meet the needs of specific groups. Promoting Equality through the Curriculum.
